APRIL ISSUE

WELCOME TO OPEN HOUSE

INTERVIEW GOVERNOR — Students of Sociology II administer questionnaire to Governor Volpe in his office at the State House during recent visit.

Sociology Class Interviews Political Office Holders

On April 11, eighteen members of Dean Malloy's Sociology II class visited Boston in order to interview their representatives and Constitutional officers.

The Sociology class has been studying the need of Constitutional revision in Massachusetts, and part of their study involves interviewing political office holders.

The group left Northern Essex at 8:30 A. M. and arrived at about 9:30. They were met at the state house and guided on a tour of the Capital by the clerk of the Senate,

Mr. Thomas A. Chadwick.

After the tour, the members of the group set out interviewing their respective representatives, senators and the Constitutional officers, including Attorney General Edward McCormack, Secretary of the Commonwealth Kevin White, Auditor Thomas Buckley and Treasurer John Driscoll. The group was received by Governor John Volpe in his office at the State House.

After the interviews were completed, some members of the group attended a session of the House of Representatives.

Student Council And Dean's List Students Will Conduct Tours

The administration and student body of Northern Essex Community College wish to extend a cordial welcome to our guests and friends who have come to our first Open House. We hope that you will find it both educational and inspiring.

One of the main features today will be the displays in Economics, Accounting, Typing, Secretarial Science, Biology, and Government Classes.

Tours of the college will be conducted by the members of the Student Council and Dean's List students, followed by the serving of refreshments.

Mr. Harold Bentley, the college director, is the general chairman of the Open House activities. Chairmen of the other committees include Mrs. Sarah Johansen, invitations; Mr. Nicholas Sarris, displays; Mr. John Finneran, grounds; Raymond Abbott and David Fitzgerald, publicity; Miss Phyllis Comeau and Mrs. Mary J. Malloy, refreshments; and Miss Rose Marie D'Agata, flowers.

The following students will serve refreshments: June Cram, Pat Gallagher, Jane Harvey, Pat Neth, Donna McGillivray, Linda Smith, Mary Jane Flynn, Judith Ross, Gay Maccarone, Kathleen Bardley, Alice Marcotte, Sandra Ball, Patricia Charlesworth, Alice Ferracane, Joyce Coco, Ann McGrath, Marie Casserly, Joanna Colleta, Marion and Rose Marino, Regina Kowalzyk, and Donna Orsini.

Mr. Vincent DiBurro of DiBurro's Catering Service is supplying tea and coffee services, dishes, linens and a punch fountain. Mr. Roland Chabot of North Shore Vending Company is donating coffee and cookies. The Bradford Snack Shop is donating donuts and coffee.

Announce Staff For First College Yearbook

N.E.C.C.O. is proud to release the names of the staff which will compile the first yearbook of the college. In so doing, we are advised of the tentative nature of the positions of the staff, in respect to the fact that probation or "failure to produce" will result in disqualification. Furthermore, special petitions on the part of eager persons, not included in this list, will be considered by the advisor, Mr. Roland Kimball.

Barbara Kelly has been selected to serve as Editor-in-Chief.

Gaye Maccarone will be Literary Editor, and Henry DiBurro, Business Manager.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD

During a recent Sociology field trip to the State House in Boston, I had the opportunity to interview the state Attorney-General, Edward J. McCormack.

Mr. McCormack is a candidate for the U. S. Senate, opposing Edward (Ted) Kennedy for the Democratic Party nomination.

During the interview, I asked Mr. McCormack what he thought the issues of the campaign would be. He told me he believed the main issue would be experience; who can best serve Massachusetts. He also added he was confident he would win his party's nomination.

I, too, am confident he will win the nomination, for he is without a doubt the better qualified candidate. A quick glance at the respective candidates may help reveal the reasons.

Mr. McCormack served on the Boston City Council from 1953-1958, and served as Council President during 1956. In September, 1958, he was selected by the Massachusetts Legislature to complete the un-expired term of the late George Fingold as Attorney-General of Massachusetts.

He was elected for a two-year term as Attorney-General in 1958 and re-elected in 1960 for the same office, receiving the highest plurality of any candidate for the office of Attorney-General.

He is a member of the National Association of Attorneys General, and was elected by his Democratic and Republican colleagues as chairman of the Eastern Conference and to the National Executive Committee of the Association.

Compare his background with that of his opponent Edward (Ted) Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy has served as Assistant District Attorney in Suffolk County and that is the total of his public service. Need I say more?

SCHOOL SPIRIT

If anything has been demonstrated at the "Freshmen Frolics" show, besides the obvious talent of the performers, it has been the great school spirit at Northern Essex.

One would not expect that such an undertaking could have been accomplished in such a small school. However, the quality of the student body at Northern Essex has more than made up for its small size.

Another demonstration of this Northern Essex spirit was the landscaping of the front of the school. Under the direction of Dr. Wood and Mr. Finneran, student volunteers did a wonderful job in giving Northern Essex a new face. This co-operation between members of the faculty and members of the student body is an indication that this spirit of Northern Essex is not confined just to the students but is shared by the faculty also.

This is as it should be! Pride in our great institution of higher learning is what will make it even a greater college.

MISS OLGA WILLIAMS
 ... Typing and Shorthand

Miss Williams, typing and shorthand instructor at Northern Essex Community College, received her Bachelor of Education degree at Salem State Teachers College and her Master of Commercial Science at Boston University.

After studying at the University of Bridgeport (Conn.), she received a certificate of advanced graduate study. She also studied shorthand at the Gregg Shorthand College at Chicago and studied miscellaneous courses not leading to degrees at the University of Connecticut and Tufts University.

Besides teaching at N.E.C.C., Miss Williams is head of the Business Department at Gloucester High School.

Her business experience includes positions with the Massachusetts Department of Conservation and Mental Health, secretary in the administration office at the North Shore Shopping Center in Peabody, and training consultant for the American Cyanamid Company.

Miss Williams decided to teach at N.E.C.C. because she liked the idea of teaching on the junior college level and the public junior college is just beginning to get started in the East. She has never regretted her decision because of her extreme liking for her students.

Her hobbies include playing golf, swimming, sailing, and travelling.

LAWN LANDSCAPED

A group of students under the direction of Dr. Wood and Mr. Finneran gathered Thursday, April 26 and Saturday, April 28, to clean up the front of our school. They spread loam and seed and planted shrubery.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As a student of N.E.C.C., I would like to express my sincere appreciation of the fine job you and your staff are doing.

In this first year of N.E.C.C.O.'s existence, the quality of your newspaper is a tribute to our school. It is heartening to see, among the lavish spending in a collegiate institution, one organization which keeps cost at a minimum while turning out grade A work.

While many students may not be conscious of the fact, the newspaper sells advertisements, helping defray its expenses, therefore lessening the strain on the Student Activities Fund.

I can't let an organization of such high caliber go unnoticed and I feel it's time your paper received some praise for the efficient and worthwhile service you are performing, both to the school and the community.

Sincerely yours,
 Brian M. Dacey

FATHER NORMAN O'CONNOR SPEAKS TO STUDENT BODY

At the last director's hour Father Norman J. O'Connor, chaplain at Boston University, spoke to the members of the student body.

Father O'Connor spoke on the various aspects of the lives of the people in the entertainment business. He pointed out that many performers are misunderstood by the public.

He also said that many times the attitude of the performer is the result of prejudice on the part of the public in which the performer is in contact and that we should look upon these persons with understanding and without prejudice.

USE RAILING FOR FLAGPOLE

Students of N.E.C.C. make use of what they have. Three students, Maynard Ellis, Robert Christy and Arnie Kaplan decided a flagpole would improve the appearance of our school. They proceeded to paint an old iron railing and then rigged it with a pulley and rope. The result of their efforts stands at the front of our school today.

College Humor

"What is your son studying in college?"

"Languages"

"Language? I thought he was taking medicine?"

"Well, I got a bill that said: 'Twenty dollars for French; Fifty dollars for Spanish; and $125 for Scotch.'"

The newcomer placed his hand on the shoulder of the convict before him and began the rhythmic lock step back to jail. He leaned forward a little and whispered to the tired convict ahead!

"Is this all there is to this rock splitting job?"

"Ain't fourteen hours a day of it enough?"

"Nothing to it."

"Seven days a week of it! Bad food—lousy beds..."

"It's heaven!"

"Say, where in the world did you come from?"

"I... I was a college professor."

During a discussion in my high school English class, the question of choosing a college was brought up. One bright girl contributed her bit! "Well, she said, 'First you've got to decide whether you want to go to a coeducational institution or an educational one!'"

(B. Hodges, Readers' Digest)

The judge was talking to the defendant. "You admit burglary," he said, "but the district attorney charges you with breaking into the dress shop three times." "Well, your honor," the thief explained, "It was like this. I broke in once, and stole a dress. But my wife made me go back twice and exchange it."

A REMINDER TO STUDENTS

The John Drossos Scholarships are available to graduates of Haverhill High School who attend Northern Essex and are available to those in the second year at N.E.C.C. as well as first year students.

Letters of application should be mailed to Mr. J. Jackson George, Chairman, Scholarship Committee, Haverhill High School, by May 25, 1962.

Northern Essex Presents First Successful Variety Show

On April 27, at 8:15, Northern Essex Community College presented its first planned activity for public entertainment. The show opened with the student chorus singing "Everything's Coming Up Roses."

The master of ceremonies, Dennis Rivet, then introduced Steve Weston, who delivered the N.E.C.C. address; after that Kathy Bushnell sang "I Enjoy Being A Girl." The remainder of the program consisted of the following acts and stars:

"By The Sea"

Jack Bateman Frank Dushame
Nick Lawler Jerry Oulette
Frank Risoldi Andy Shanks

"Shelley Berman Monologue"

Paul Frechette

"Honeybun"

Kathy Bushnell Elaine Fontaine
Gaye Maccarone Donna Orsini

ELEC. TECHS VISIT W. E.

A group of Electronic Tech students visited the Western Electric plant in Andover recently under the direction of Mr. Pentico and Mr. Gallagher. The students listened to talks on the purposes and services of the plant and the job opportunities for technicians and engineers. Following the talks they were guided on a tour of the Crystal Quartz Building and the Bell laboratory.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Many people have exercised themselves to death.

Many people have played themselves to death.

Many people have eaten and drunk themselves to death.

Many people worry themselves to death.

No one has ever THOUGHT himself to death.

Thought is the only human activity which does not generate harmful acids and painful alkalis.

How about exercising the mind?

You are not necessarily crazy if you talk to yourself—only if you listen.

From The Director's Desk

Clean Up Day in our college was a wonderful experience. A large number of our young men worked very hard to help the faculty landscape the grounds. It was pleasant to see the willingness of the volunteers in this project.

We had so many splendid things given us outright as this new college was established. Pleasant rooms, excellent equipment, and a sense of great freedom came with the new regional college. Even the signs that lead visitors to us were gifts of welcome to our institution.

However, not everything was as it should be. Our worst feature was the appearance of the grounds. Nothing had been done to improve years of neglect in this area. The image of the college was rendered unattractive by the sad looking surroundings.

It is at this point that our faculty and students assumed the responsibility of improving something that was ours and not a gift of a friendly community as had been all other improvements.

We took care of our own needs, and made the Open House mean so much more to a host of visitors. My own personal thanks are given to you who helped so readily. We can be proud of the job that has been done.

TWO NEW INSTRUCTORS NAMED AT NORTHERN ESSEX

N.E.C.C. has two new language instructors who will finish out the College Semester. Mr. Medaglia, who was teaching the language courses at N.E.C.C., had to resign because of illness.

The new instructors are: Dr. Segundo Gonzalez del Castillo, professor of Spanish at Bradford Junior College. Mr. Gonzalez originally is from Cuba where he was a professor at Havana and Camaguey University. He was also Commissioner of Education of Camaguey Province. Mr. Gonzalez has been at Bradford Junior College for one year.

John P. Nionakis, instructor of French, is head of the Foreign Language Department at Pentucket Regional High School. Mr. Nionakis holds his Master of Arts degree in French and Spanish from Middleburg Graduate School.

Students' Comments On Recent Dance

At the Northern Essex Community College's dance on Friday, April 13, held at the Haverhill Country Club, the dancers had many varied feelings toward the organization of the dance. Their comments were duly reported and are being presented here. Those interviewed were: Miss Donna Orsini, Ernie Parent, and Pete Kasuba—all students at N.E.C.C.

Do you feel that the boys and girls were fairly evenly matched?

Ernie—I don't think there were enough girls—the boys outnumbered them.

Donna—Oh, no! There weren't enough boys.

Pete—They were pretty even—if you had a date it was all right; if you didn't, you had a lousy time.

What about the manner of dress?

Donna—It was too formal—it was supposed to be casual, and everyone came with suits.

Ernie—Ibid!

Pete—They WERE clothed.

What about the band this time?

Donna—They had too many intermissions that were longer than the songs.

Ernie—I did not like their arrangements.

Pete—Their twists and Latin pieces were off beat.

What about the crowd that was there?

Donna—They were O.K.

Ernie—Everyone that came should have had a student ID from a college unless with a date—this would eliminate high school kids from attending.

Pete—If this was supposed to be a mixer there was little representation from other colleges.

Do you think there is enthusiasm among our students toward mixers?

Donna—No!

Ernie—Our students don't realize what a mixer is—they think they are still going to high school dances.

Pete—Not as much as to be expected from college students.

Do you feel that mixers should be held at the Country Club?

Donna—I think it's a good idea having it there.

Ernie—I feel it is an excellent place to have a college mixer.

Pete—It is a beautiful place to stand around with a "7-Up" in your hand all evening.

How do you feel about the dance as a whole?

Donna—I thought it was going to be a fabulous dance because of the enthusiasm over the last two—I was very disappointed.

Ernie—I had a good time because I had a date, but I felt sorry for the guys who didn't.

Pete—as compared to the last, it wasn't up to par.

STUDENTS ENJOY DANCE HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

On Friday night, April 13, 1962, the Student Council of Northern Essex Community College put on its third dance of the year.

It was held at the Haverhill Country Club. All those who attended seemed to enjoy themselves and the music of Tom Goodwin and his band.

SOCIAL SECURITY DIRECTOR SPEAKS AT DIRECTOR'S HOUR

At a recent Director's hour, Mr. Nando Zamarchi, Assistant Social Security Director at Malden, Mass., spoke to the student body on the various aspects of the Social Security system of the U. S. He explained how the system functions and the many benefits of the system. Mr. Zamarchi showed the group a film which further explained the Social Security system. He also pointed out the employment opportunities which the system offers to trained persons.

CONTEST EXTENDED

N.E.C.C.O. has decided not to reveal to the student body of Northern Essex Community College the winner of the Caricature contest. Because of the lack of sufficient entries, the staff has decided to extend the contest until the end of May, in order that more students will have the opportunity to enter their artwork. The winner will be announced in the last issue of N.E.C.C.O.

Birth Of The Freshmen Frolics

Almost two months ago an idea was born in the minds of three girls at N.E.C.C. This idea was mulled over, was argued about, and finally hatched into what eventually became the "Freshmen Frolics"—a variety show with two faculty advisors, one student director, a planning board of four students, a student M. C., a chorus, ten student acts, an audience participation sing-along, and four wardrobe girls.

Then the apathy set in, to the degree that serious thoughts were entertained in reference to canceling the show. But, the girls, reluctant to give up their brain-child, vowed to rehearse the acts constantly during the last days before the night of April 27, when it was scheduled for production.

And they did—they rehearsed the acts individually, but at no time was there a full cast rehearsal.

The enthusiasm that had been so woefully lacking finally exploded on the night of the show with cheers, whistles, and encouraging applause.

With a near-capacity crowd in attendance those girls who nurtured that abstract idea from early February felt proud to witness the final success of their plan.

BIOLOGISTS VISIT HARVARD

On April 13, the combined Biology classes of N.E.C.C. visited Harvard University's Museum of Comparative Zoology in Cambridge.

The highlight of the tour was the viewing of the famous glass flowers of Harvard. This priceless exhibition is the only one of its kind in the world. The students also found further interest in the other exhibitions throughout the museum, such as the mummy, and the embalmed heads of apes. Indeed, the Harvard students themselves were an interesting sight.

Little Danny was crying when his father came home from work. "What's the matter? Daddy asked. "Mommy ran over my new bike," Danny bawled "She ran over it when she backed out of the garage." Daddy shook his head. "How many times," he asked, "have I told you not to leave your bike on the front porch?"

MISS VIRGINIA BASCOM

... Mathematics

Miss Virginia Bascom, instructor of advanced Mathematics at Northern Essex Community College, also occupies teaching positions at Haverhill High School and Lowell Technological Institute Evening School. Previous to teaching at Haverhill High School, she taught social studies and math at North Andover High School.

Miss Bascom earned her degree of Bachelor of Arts in mathematics from Earlham College in Richmond, Indiana, her degree of Master of Arts of Social studies from Columbia University in New York; and an advanced graduate certificate in guidance from Boston University School of Education. She also studied modern math under the National Science Foundation at Bowdoin College, Maine, and has attended summer school at Harvard University.

When queried on her reasons for teaching at N.E.C.C., Miss Bascom stated her reasons were not very profound—she thought she would like to start in with a new school and see how it would work out.

Miss Bascom's hobbies, when she has spare time, include golf and photography.

? Question ? Of The Month

Should Northern Essex Community College have an initiation (orientation) of the incoming freshmen class next year?

WILLIAM QUIGLEY

I feel that there should be some hazing of the freshmen students but we should not be too hard on them because we didn't have to go through any hazing at all, since we were the first class.

DENIS BEAULIEU

I am in favor of having the incoming freshman class initiated. A pre-chosen orientation committee can make the new freshmen feel at home as well as get them acquainted with their fellow students.

ROSE MARIE D'AGATA

Yes, because it helps the incoming freshmen to get acquainted with their school. I believe it is good because it will give the kids an idea of what college life is like.

JOHN PEASE

I believe that the incoming freshmen should be oriented. Almost every college has an orientation day or orientation exercises. Therefore I believe we as a college of growing status should participate in such exercises. These exercises will also help a great deal toward building up school spirit and class morale.

MARIE CASSERLY

Yes, I feel that it will give the new freshmen class a chance to become acquainted with themselves and the school. I think something like a freshmen orientation would give the upper classmen more school spirit and a feeling of belonging to the school.

ANGELO SCALA

I do believe that there should be a freshmen orientation in order to maintain the college spirit and also feel that all students will benefit in such a freshman orientation.

CINEMA

THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY—The latest Ingmar Bergman. Beautifully photographed and superbly set, this is a fine motion picture. Four members of an unhappy family go down hill together. This is a heart-breaking theme, although it does seem to improve slightly toward the end. Mr. Bergman always turns out superior pictures, and this is no exception.

PURPLE NOON — Just as we have some pretty fixed ideas about the French and the way they act, the French seem to have a few about us. This is a French film about some Americans in Italy. One is a murderer and two are murdered. The picture is well photographed, but that's about all.

ALL FALL DOWN — An all-star cast, including Karl Malden, Eva Marie Saint and Warren Beatty, and superb direction have failed to salvage this film. It has been accurately described as a "peep-show of sadism." It has no plot, no point, and very little excuse for ever having been filmed.

COUNTERFEIT TRAITOR — In the case of this film, the truth is stranger and more exciting than fiction.

An American businessman whose firm operates in neutral Switzerland during World War II is persuaded by the U. S. Government to become a counter spy. So successfully staged is his apparent defection to the German cause that he loses both wife and friends. He is aided in his attempt to tap the till of Axis information by the wife of a German general. He also becomes personally involved with her and it is this adulterous union which causes the most dramatic punch of the story. The woman stricken with remorse, seeks absolution of her sin by confessing the whole story to a priest. Her stark terror, at discovering that she has confessed, not to a priest, but to an S. S. trooper, is chilling.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR—This

successful Lillian Hellman play has been very effectively adapted for the screen. Dealing forcefully, and well, with the unnatural association of two women, it also shows poignantly the terrible power of malicious gossip. The women, owners of a girls' school, are played by Shirley Maclaine and Audrey Hepburn. Karen Balkin's portrayal of their young student, whose malicious lies damage the lives of many at the school, is super. She easily wins all honors for being the most obnoxious child seen on the screen for many years.

WEST BERLIN GIRLS TAKE PART IN N.E.C.C. DISCUSSION

Two students from Masconomet High School, both natives of West Berlin, took part in a panel discussion prepared for the Economics class. The girls discussed the economic condition in Germany and also answered many questions asked by the students.

The visitors were Misses Bridgette Liebsch and Carola Liebsch, both of West Boxford. Both students have completed high school education in Germany and are taking a post-graduate business course at Masconomet.

PRE-REGISTRATION MEETINGS

Pre-registration meetings for all students will be held beginning May 3, 1962. THESE MEETINGS ARE REQUIRED and excuses will be issued only for emergencies.

All meetings will be held in Room 8 during the Student Government hour on Thursdays (1:30).

Note the bulletin board for the exact date each section is to meet. Failure to be present at these meetings, unless excused, will be taken as meaning that you do not plan to return to the College next September.
